Dear Sir or Madam,

Scientific publishing company “Hersoie” invite you to participate in a collection of papers:

Research papers on Law:

Contemporary Issues of Law

The rapid changes in the legal, political, social and cultural landscapes raise fundamental questions about the strategically and ethically issues of law.

The aim of this collection of papers is to set up as an interdisciplinary debate between environmental scientists and legal experts. It will thus offer a new forum for debate and innovative thinking. By discussing different issues of contemporary legal interest in relation to themes offering here, a number of apparently separate issues are drawn together under the same topical umbrella.

The result of this work is a coherent framework which offers a clear overview of the broader thematic influences on the law generally whilst also focusing more specifically on current manifestations of this influence at work in specific areas of current concern.
